An Invitation to Participate

Invitation from the President

DR. RAJENDRAN
SABAPATHY

Throughout the pandemic, as clinicians and ACC members, we adapted and continued our work of fulfilling the ACC mission to transform cardiovascular care and improve heart health. Cardiology professionals meet challenging times with resiliency and innovation each and every day. To do so, we balance innovation with tried and true care practices based on a solid clinical foundation.

In that spirit, the Kansas Chapter of the American College of Cardiology will present the 10th Annual Cardiovascular Symposium on Saturday, September 30, 2023!

The meeting will again feature presenters who are leaders in the cardiology realm and will offer real world topics to conference attendees. Attendees include cardiologists, primary care physicians, fellows in training, nurses, nurse practitioners and physician assistants from surrounding areas.

We will again host a live meeting experience with speaker presentations, interactive panel discussions and a large Exhibition Hall in the pre-conference foyer just outside the general session room. In addition, you will have expanded visibility on our virtual meeting platform.

This event's exhibition and marketing opportunities are open to a variety of commercial supporters (e.g. companies). Our live meeting provides opportunities to chat with attendees and distribute product information at your exhibit booth. We will also have our poster display in the exhibitor area.

I ask for your continued support of the Kansas ACC Cardiovascular Symposium. We appreciate your longstanding support and would love to welcome you in 2023 as an exhibitor.

Very Sincerely,
Rajendran Sabapathy, M.D., F.A.C.C., F.S.C.A.I., R.P.V.I.
KS-ACC Governor

Keynote Speaker

DR. NICOLE LOHR

Nicole L. Lohr, MD, PhD, FACC
Secretary and BOG Chair

Nicole L. Lohr, M.D., Ph.D., FACC, is the Director of the Division of Cardiovascular Disease and Co-
Director of the UAB Medicine
Cardiovascular Institute (CVI)

Dr. Lohr also serves as Director of the Comprehensive Cardiovascular Center (CCVC), a university-wide interdisciplinary research center and will be proposed to serve as the Mary G. Waters Chair of Cardiovascular Medicine.

A native of Wisconsin and a graduate of Marquette University, Dr. Lohr obtained her Ph.D. and M.D. from MCW, where she also trained in medicine and in cardiovascular medicine. A Fellow of the American College of Cardiology (ACC) and an active member of the American Heart Association (AHA), Dr. Lohr served as board president of AHA's Milwaukee Chapter in 2020 and as governor of ACC's Wisconsin Chapter in 2020.

Lohr is a physician-scientist, serving as principal investigator for numerous active clinical trials. Dr. Lohr's research aims to develop effective therapies for peripheral artery disease that use novel approaches to promote vasodilation and angiogenesis. She discovered that red light stimulates nitric oxide precursors that then release nitric oxide, which in turn dilates arteries and arterioles. Her current research aims to optimize red light delivery and confirm her findings in people with peripheral artery disease. Her research program is funded by the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute (Small molecule NO precursors as a bioactive source of NO in vasodilation and angiogenesis) and the Department of Veteran Affairs (Red light-mediated trafficking of microvesicles as a mechanism of vasodilation).
