An Invitation to Participate

Invitation from the President

DR. RAJENDRAN SABAPATHY

Throughout the pandemic, as clinicians and ACC members, we adapted and continued our work of fulfilling the ACC mission to transform cardiovascular care and improve heart health. Cardiology professionals meet challenging times with resiliency and innovation each and every day. To do so, we balance innovation with tried and true care practices based on a solid clinical foundation.

In that spirit, the Kansas Chapter of the American College of Cardiology will present the 9th Annual Cardiovascular Symposium on Saturday, October 1, 2022!

The meeting will again feature presenters who are leaders in the cardiology realm and will offer real world topics to conference attendees. Attendees include cardiologists, primary care physicians, fellows in training, nurses, nurse practitioners and physician assistants from surrounding areas.

We will again host a live meeting experience with speaker presentations, interactive panel discussions and a large Exhibition Hall in the pre-conference foyer just outside the general session room. In addition, you will have expanded visibility on our virtual meeting platform.

This event's exhibition and marketing opportunities are open to a variety of commercial supporters (e.g. companies). Our live meeting provides opportunities to chat with attendees and distribute product information at your exhibit booth. We will also have our poster display in the exhibitor area.

I ask for your continued support of the Kansas ACC Cardiovascular Symposium. We appreciate your longstanding support and would love to welcome you back in 2022 as an exhibitor.

Very Sincerely,
Rajendran Sabapathy, M.D., F.A.C.C., F.S.C.A.I., R.P.V.I.
KS-ACC Governor

Keynote Speaker

DR. ATHENA POPPAS

Athena Poppas, M.D., M.A.C.C., F.A.S.E. was the 2020-2021 President of the American College of Cardiology. Her term began at the close of the 2020 ACC Annual Scientific Session Together with World Congress of Cardiology held virtually in March 2020 due to the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Poppas has been a long-standing leader of the College throughout her more than 20 years of membership. She previously served as president of the Rhode Island chapter, holding a seat on the ACC Board of Governors. She also served as Annual Scientific Session chair for ACC.15 where she led the scientific program planning for the conference's 13,000 professional attendees.

Poppas began serving as a member of the ACC Board of Trustees in 2010. As a member of the Governance Committee, she helped spearhead the restructuring of the ACC's governance structure and process to ensure the ability of the College to be nimble, strategic, accountable and inclusive of the diverse needs of the global cardiovascular community. She's also held positions on the Cardiometabolic Strategic Work Group, Clinical Quality Committee and Women in Cardiology Council.

Poppas is a professor of medicine at The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University and chief of cardiology and director of the Lifespan Cardiovascular Institute at Rhode Island, The Miriam and Newport hospitals.

She received a Bachelor of Science from Brown University and a Doctor of Medicine from the University of Wisconsin Medical School. Poppas completed her residencies in internal medicine at University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics and in cardiovascular medicine at University of Chicago Hospitals.

Poppas specializes in valvular heart disease, heart disease in women, and echocardiography and heart disease in pregnancy and focuses her research on echocardiography and heart disease in women and the elderly.
